

President and Mrs. Wilson Visit Keith's With Party; McAdoo's Return to Capital

Other News of Society at the Capital.

The President and Mrs. Wilson occupied a box at Keith's last evening. They were accompanied by Miss Helen Woodrow Wilson and Mr. John Randolph Bolling.

The Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. McAdoo, who spent the last weekend at Schron Lake, N. Y., returned to Washington.

Mrs. Ernest Garlington, wife of Brig. Gen. Garlington, U. S. A., and her daughter, Mrs. Harry Dwight Chamberlain, wife of Lieut. Chamberlain, U. S. A., left Washington yesterday to spend the remainder of the summer and early autumn in Virginia.

Mrs. James G. B. Lampert, wife of Lieut. Lampert, U. S. A., accompanied by Miss Madge Houghton, of Milwaukee, who has been her guest for some time, went to Norfolk yesterday where they will remain for several days.

Mrs. Horace Macfarland will entertain at an informal dinner party this evening at the Chevy Chase Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Overman have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lola Ebbetta Overman, to Mr. Claude Varnay Burrows. The wedding will take place in the early winter.

Mrs. Overman and Miss Overman will leave Washington for the wedding at Mackinac Island, Mich., where they will remain until the first of November.

Brig. Gen. George F. Scriven, U. S. A., and Mrs. Scriven, following the former's duties, are spending the summer in Washington at their comfortable home at New Hampshire avenue and N street.

The Misses Scriven are visiting at the Canal Zone, where they will remain until the early winter.

Among the New Yorkers stopping at the Shoreham are Mr. Charles Sprague, Jr., and Mr. Albert H. Washburn.

A marriage of interest to Washingtonians will take place today at Newport when Miss Caroline D. Garpet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Garpet, will become the bride of Lieut. Thomas O. Humphreys, Coast Artillery Corps, U. S. A.

The bride is a niece of Mrs. Charles Biesel, wife of an artist who is prominent in the art association of Newport, and the marriage will be performed in Mr. Biesel's studio in Bellevue avenue.

The Rev. Marvin S. Stocking will officiate. The ceremony will be followed by a breakfast at Hilltop Inn.

The engagement was announced three months ago, but the wedding was not expected yet by their friends. Lieut. Humphreys has received notice of his promotion to the rank of captain. He is stationed at Fort Adams.

Miss Garnett is one of the most attractive girls in the winter colony of Newport, and is prominent as an automobileist, a horsewoman, and in wireless telegraphy.

Brig. Gen. D. C. Kinsman, U. S. A., accompanied by Mrs. Kinsman, is spending some weeks at Atlantic City, after which they will go to Portland, Me., for the autumn.

Mr. J. Mitchell Palmer, of Stroudsburg, Pa., is in town and is located at the Shoreham.

Lord and Lady Shaughnessy announce the engagement of their daughter, Marguerite, to Mr. Edwin L. Sanborn, of Habana, Cuba.

Lord Shaughnessy is head of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Delano and the Misses Louise and Laura Delano, who spent the early season traveling in the West, have been at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware for some weeks. They left yesterday for Bar Harbor, where they will stay for the remainder of the summer.

Miss Dolores Crawford, daughter of Brig. Gen. Medore Crawford, U. S. A., retired, and Mrs. Crawford, has left Washington for a visit to Narragansett Pier, where she will be the guest of Mrs. James Harriman. General and Mrs. Crawford are at the Hotel Lafayette.

Mr. Benjamin F. Yohe and daughter, Ethel, are spending their vacation at Atlantic City.

Maj. L. M. Gulick, U. S. M., and Mrs. Gulick arrived in Washington yesterday and are stopping at the Shoreham.

Mrs. Hunt Slater was hostess at a tea at her cottage on Bar Island, at Bar Harbor, Me., yesterday, in honor of Miss Lydia Eustis of Birmingham, Ala., who is spending the summer with her aunt, Miss Celestine Eustis.

Mme. Lilliput Camperio, with her two children, will arrive in New York tomorrow from Madrid, where Capt. Camperio is naval attaché of the Italian Embassy. Mme. Camperio was formerly Miss Eleanor Terry. She will spend about two months in Washington with her mother, Mrs. Silas W. Terry. Mrs. Terry has gone to New York to meet Mme. Camperio and they will come to Washington together.

The marriage of Mrs. Gladys Belknap, daughter of Rear Admiral Caspar F. Goodrich, U. S. N., retired, to Mr. John Clark Brennan, of New York, will be an event of the early autumn at Rear Admiral Goodrich's handsome home in Pomfret, Conn.

Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, U. S. N., accompanied by Mrs. Fletcher and their daughter, left Washington ten days ago for a leisurely motor trip along the Atlantic coast and are now at Lake Placid, N. Y., where they will remain during August.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson Fahnestock have issued invitations for a dinner and dance on August 24 at their Newport residence.

Encouragement Expectant Mothers.

This is peculiarly a Time for Ease and Comfort

Make known your wants, or desires,
and by all means keep "Mother's Friend" nearby, for in it you can put complete confidence and reliability as a means of assisting nature in accomplishing its wonderful work of preparation. "Mother's Friend" soothes the distressing pains and gives relief from morning sickness, as well as makes an easier delivery. Get a bottle at your drug gist—use externally—and note the satisfaction received. A free book on Motherhood will be sent all mothers.
Write for one. Address:

The Bradford Regulator Co.,
213 Lamar Bldg.,
Atlanta, Ga.

At the Chicago Convention.—III.

Copyright, 1916, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate. Entered at Stationers' Hall, London. All rights reserved. Including rights of translation. Publication of this article in whole or in part is expressly prohibited except by special arrangement with The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

HOME again! Really I did intend to keep my diary up every day and write two articles on Saturday, but I must confess that not for one-half second did I think of my duty to my pen!

At 9:45 Saturday morning, we arrived at the station in Chicago and such an exciting moment as it was for us all! The president of the Famous Players had sent some beautiful boxes of flowers to the train, so I felt very important as I strutted down the steps with a large bouquet of orchids pinned on the chest of me.

We did not know there had been any announcement of our arrival, so we were astonished when a merry crowd of people was at the station to give us a rousing greeting.

I was presented with a great armful of American Beauties sent by the Paramount exhibitors, but the most touching tribute I received was a little bunch of faded roses that a tiny, pale-faced girl brought me. She had fought her way through the crowd, determined that I should wear these flowers, which she told me she had grown in tin cans outside her window.

Mother and I were whisked into a machine and driven through the streets on our way to the hotel. And truly the city looked like a gala fête day with its banners and flags to welcome the visitors to the convention.

Mother, leaning out of the limousine window, caught sight of a cunning little brown-faced boy about fourteen years old who had followed us, running all the way from the station. Three or four boys had set out, but as the machine whirled around the corners, speeding us onward, they had all dropped out but this sturdy little fellow, whose jaw was set and who had made up his mind to pay us this homage.

For several blocks we watched him until we could stand it no longer—then we called him into the machine to ride the rest of the way to the "Blackstone" Hotel.

"I've seen you on the screen, Miss Pickford," he apologized between gasping breaths as he mopped his face, "and I wagged those fellers I'd speak the first word to you that any kid spoke in Chicago, and—"

he chuckled a moment merrily—"I beat 'em to it, didn't I?"

The automobile drew up for a moment at one of the street corners until the traffic passed; then a very somber-eyed young gentleman walked swiftly to the car and passed me his card.

"I've seen you in many pictures, Miss Pickford," he whispered hurriedly, "and I've never liked you in any of them. Here's my card, and if you will take the trouble to write me, I will tell you what is all wrong with your acting."

"I'm very much obliged for your criticism and thank you kindly," smiling as I said it and handing him one of the flowers from my bouquet.

"Thanks," he replied curtly. "If my wife doesn't find out who gave it to me, she would never tolerate the idea that I accepted any favor from any woman connected with the stage." And with a formal and very sour bow, the grim Mr. Henry Peck disappeared into the crowd.

Riding up the Boulevard to the Blackstone Hotel.

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

Wednesday, August 9, 1916.

This is read as an unimportant day, so far as planetary direction is concerned, but good influences prevail. The Sun and Uranus are in the sign of Cancer. It is a favorable time for seeking positions and promotions. Persons who yield power in finance or politics should be amenable to persuasion and argument.

Gain through agreeable manners and magnetic personality. Be liberal to be easy while this configuration rules. The kindly aspects of the Sun are held to enhance loyalty, sincerity, ambition and adaptability. Strength and energy are increased during the rule.

This should be a lucky day for political candidates, as publicity, whether it be through the newspapers or by means of oratory, is said to be more effective than during other planetary governments.

Teachery on the part of a state leader in one of the political parties is fore-shadowed.

Money belonging to the people of the United States will be wasted, the seers declare, and they foretell trouble that affects many states as well as the government at Washington.

This is not a lucky aspect for journeys, especially on the high seas. There is a sign that warns against uncleanness in any form. The sinister influence of Neptune is especially malevolent, the seers declare, in increasing danger through poisonous gases, fetid odors and noxious water.

Education continues under the sway of an exceedingly progressive. Reformers will be widespread. Honors for the president of a university are foretold.

There is a prophecy that the next President of the United States will make a record in forwarding the interests of international law.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be uncluttered in handling money. Speculation will be uncluttered. Those who are employed probably will be promoted.

Children born on this day are likely to be better followers than leaders. They should become employees. These subjects of Leo are usually specialists.

(Copyright, 1916)

hotel, we enjoyed the vista of the beautiful lake, dotted by the white sails of many yachts. Outside the hotel there was the usual scene of curious and interested on-lookers waiting to see what a moving-picture girl looked like when she went in moving pictures. And the wise-eyed, energetic young reporters who asked a thousand questions all in one breath, at the same time directing the camera men to catch the most unbecoming pose while we helplessly and hopelessly tried to struggle past them with our hats down over our eyes and hands conspicuously hiding our faces.

It isn't because we are afraid of these goggle-eyed cameras, but you who have had snapshots taken know how surprisingly foolish you look when you see your own smirking countenance, slightly on the bias, displayed on the front sheet of the morning paper.

Writing of this, I always think of what one young lady told me of the satisfaction she got from these snapshots—if she had had heard for years how beautiful or fascinating Miss So-and-So was, when she saw a snapshot taken of her on the Boardwalk at Atlantic City or at the gateway of her country home in Newport, she consoled herself by saying, "Well, she may have millions, but she certainly looks like a fright!"

Entering the Blackstone was like stepping across the equator on to the borders of Alaska, for this marvelous hotel is air cooled, and, sitting there, one could easily forget the sweltering moments out on the street with the heat waves literally dancing before your eyes.

"What is the program for today?" I asked. And upon being told just what the program was, I decided that the ten minutes I would have before entering into the prescribed order of the day I should devote to "priming," as men call the ordeal of powdering, dressing, and hair combing.

Answers to Correspondents.
Helen A.—You may photograph very well—do not be worried about your complexion. Grease paint covers all freckles and a snow skin—even some of the small wrinkles around the eyes.

E. E.—To find your friend in the Selig company, better write there direct. In case he has left there, the letter may be forwarded to him.

Virginia Mae.—You may write direct to Tom Fortnam, Lucky company, California, and ask him all the questions about himself which I am unable to answer.

J. R. M.—Charlie Chaplin is with the Mutual company, California. You might write and ask him what his religion is—his nationality is English. Dustin Farnum is the brother of William Farnum.

E. L. D.—I am not sure but the Vitaphone company may consider a scenario for the child actor and actresses of the studio.

L. M. B.—Yes, indeed, Virginia Pearson is a very clever actress. She is with the Fox company at present.

May Pickford.

HOROSCOPE.

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

Wednesday, August 9, 1916.

This is read as an unimportant day, so far as planetary direction is concerned, but good influences prevail. The Sun and Uranus are in the sign of Cancer. It is a favorable time for seeking positions and promotions. Persons who yield power in finance or politics should be amenable to persuasion and argument.

Gain through agreeable manners and magnetic personality. Be liberal to be easy while this configuration rules. The kindly aspects of the Sun are held to enhance loyalty, sincerity, ambition and adaptability. Strength and energy are increased during the rule.

This should be a lucky day for political candidates, as publicity, whether it be through the newspapers or by means of oratory, is said to be more effective than during other planetary governments.

Teachery on the part of a state leader in one of the political parties is fore-shadowed.

Money belonging to the people of the United States will be wasted, the seers declare, and they foretell trouble that affects many states as well as the government at Washington.

This is not a lucky aspect for journeys, especially on the high seas. There is a sign that warns against uncleanness in any form. The sinister influence of Neptune is especially malevolent, the seers declare, in increasing danger through poisonous gases, fetid odors and noxious water.

Education continues under the sway of an exceedingly progressive. Reformers will be widespread. Honors for the president of a university are foretold.

There is a prophecy that the next President of the United States will make a record in forwarding the interests of international law.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be uncluttered in handling money. Speculation will be uncluttered. Those who are employed probably will be promoted.

Children born on this day are likely to be better followers than leaders. They should become employees. These subjects of Leo are usually specialists.

(Copyright, 1916)

TOMORROW'S MENU.

"And the soft gold down on her silken chin is like the underside of a peach."

—Robert Buchanan.

BREAKFAST.

Poached Eggs, Toast and Cream.

Four Cream Buns, Coffee.

LUNCHEON OR SUPPER.

Filet of Beef, Lettuce Salad, Creamed Potatoes, Apples.

DINNER.

Canard, Roast Potatoes, Parsley Sauce, Bread, Grapes, Apples.

Four Cream Buns, Coffee.

After eleven years of life, with Louisa of Orleans, his first wife, he had become fairly used to her set of retainers. To be sure, they were unpleasant to have about but their faces were familiar. With the death of Louisa, they were rather unceremoniously put out of the royal palaces. Now he would have to learn an entirely new set of faces and names.

A more vigorous king might have welcomed the idea of a new bevy of pretty girls as his wife's personal attendants. Charles II was not of this type.

After the death of his first wife, it became imperative to think of a second, and the choice—since Charles himself was quite indifferent to the matter—was left to his mother-in-law, the dowager, Marie Anne of Neuburg, his sister-in-law, aged twenty-two, tall, angular, ambitious, hard and passionate. It was late at night in the quiet Bavarian town of Neuburg that the ceremony took place between Marie Anne and the young king of Hungary, her nephew, who acted as proxy.

The Jeau church was thronged with the nobility of Neuburg, ambassadors from Spain, and the court of Louis XIV. Marie Anne stepped deliberately up to the altar to become the wife of the wailing king who had never even seen Charles II's first wife had been left to her husband's care.

Traveling was slow in the days of Marie Anne and Charles II, but the journey of this bride to her husband seems to have been needlessly prolonged, for it was not until late in the following January that she finally set sail in an English fleet for Spain, and not until April that she first saw her husband.

That Marie Anne was hard and querulous made more difference to Charles II's subjects than it did to himself. The most lovely and gentle of women could not have won his affection. Even when clad in the native Spanish dress, which greatly became her, the new queen failed to win popularity. In Spain, where an amiable manner is so highly prized, she seemed a stern and unapproachable noble knight before her on state occasions, she barely recognized the mark of respect and never, never smiled. It may

One of the new vacuum bottles can be taken entirely apart for cleansing.

Woodward & Lothrop

New York--Washington--Paris

IN THE AUGUST SALE OF FURS

THERE IS NOTHING OFFERED BUT NEW AND FINE STYLES AND THE MOST BEAUTIFUL QUALITIES.

Furriers have developed many elegant and original creations for the coming season's use, and our displays illustrate the great variety and beauty which fashion has ordained. Our showing includes as choice selections as we have shown at any time.

With such newness as this goes the savings that we will offer only during the sale—the month of August. The prices are MUCH LESS than they will be when the regular season commences.

We will be glad to care for any Furs purchased in our Cold Storage Vaults, without charge, until December 1.

A reasonable deposit will reserve any selection until desired.

Every piece of Fur, Set or Coat is fully guaranteed for quality, reliability and true-ness of name.

We will warrant you that no such values in Furs will be obtainable when the regular season begins.

Remarkably attractive values in Fur Sets—

Animal effects all of them, with newest scarfs, capes and throw ties and barrel or pillow muffs in late designs.

- Natural Cat Lynx Sets, $21.50.
- Natural American Fox Sets, $19.75.
- Natural Red Fox Scarfs, $15.00, $19.75, $22.50 and up.
- Natural Red Fox Muffs, $12.50, $15.00, $19.75 and up.
- Natural Skunk Sets, in black and white, $25.00.
- Natural Wolf Sets, $19.75 and $25.00.
- Natural Silver and Black Opossum Sets, $20.45, $24.50 and up.
- Blue Opossum Sets, $23.75 and up.
- Natural Raccoon Scarfs, $15.00, $18.75, $22.50 and up.
- Natural Raccoon Muffs, $9.75, $12.50, $15.00 and up.
- Black Fox Sets, $26.25 and up.
- Chestnut Fox Sets, $33.75.
- Hudson Seal Muffs, $13.75 and up.
- Hudson Seal Novelty Collars, Capes and Scarfs, $19.75 and up.
- Norfolk Lynx Scarfs, in black and gray, $5.00 and up.
- Norfolk Lynx Muffs, in gray and black, $6.75 and up.

YOUR WEDDING DAY

And the Famous Men and Women Who Have Shared It.

August 9—Charles II of Spain and Marie Anne of Neuburg. George Westinghouse and Margaret Walker.

By MARY MARSHALL.

If ever a bridegroom went to the altar devoid of enthusiasm or passion it was Charles II of Spain, who was married two hundred and eighteen years ago. Although he was only twenty-eight, he was weary of being king, weary of his duties, and weary of his life.

Charles II was a widower only three months when he was led to marry a second time. How gladly would he have welcomed the two years that sometimes pass as the minimum period of widowhood. Not only was Charles II unwilling to take to himself a second wife, but the prospect of having a second wife's household to maintain was a heavy burden to him.

After eleven years of life, with Louisa of Orleans, his first wife, he had become fairly used to her set of retainers. To be sure, they were unpleasant to have about but their faces were familiar. With the death of Louisa, they were rather unceremoniously put out of the royal palaces. Now he would have to learn an entirely new set of faces and names.

A more vigorous king might have welcomed the idea of a new bevy of pretty girls as his wife's personal attendants. Charles II was not of this type.

After the death of his first wife, it became imperative to think of a second, and the choice—since Charles himself was quite indifferent to the matter—was left to his mother-in-law, the dowager, Marie Anne of Neuburg, his sister-in-law, aged twenty-two, tall, angular, ambitious, hard and passionate. It was late at night in the quiet Bavarian town of Neuburg that the ceremony took place between Marie Anne and the young king of Hungary, her nephew, who acted as proxy.

The Jeau church was thronged with the nobility of Neuburg, ambassadors from Spain, and the court of Louis XIV. Marie Anne stepped deliberately up to the altar to become the wife of the wailing king who had never even seen Charles II's first wife had been left to her husband's care.

Traveling was slow in the days of Marie Anne and Charles II, but the journey of this bride to her husband seems to have been needlessly prolonged, for it was not until late in the following January that she finally set sail in an English fleet for Spain, and not until April that she first saw her husband.

That Marie Anne was hard and querulous made more difference to Charles II's subjects than it did to himself. The most lovely and gentle of women could not have won his affection. Even when clad in the native Spanish dress, which greatly became her, the new queen failed to win popularity. In Spain, where an amiable manner is so highly prized, she seemed a stern and unapproachable noble knight before her on state occasions, she barely recognized the mark of respect and never, never smiled. It may

One of the new vacuum bottles can be taken entirely apart for cleansing.

HOUSEWIFE'S DAILY

ECONOMY CALENDAR

RATING THE KITCHEN.

By FRANCES MARSHALL.

It is now possible in many of the hotels and restaurants to obtain a card showing the rating as far as cleanliness is concerned. In the kitchen, all you need do is to ask the waiter for it. He is obliged to give it to you and your doubts are at once either confirmed or dispelled.

So hereafter you may feel quite confident in a hotel or restaurant about the cleanliness of the food cooked and served, and the general sanitary conditions existing.

But how about your own kitchen? Don't you sometimes wish that the board of health would set a certain standard by which you must come up if you would be rated as a good housekeeper? It really seems as if it would be easier to guard against germs, and all other enemies to health in the refrigerator, the pantry, the sink, the bread box and the food chest, if the law forced us to do so, or if some inflexible inspector made us a visit every week or two.

Instead of the only thing we can do is to keep everything in the kitchen in as good condition as possible. One week we read that dish towels, even the cleanest of them, are too germ-laden for use. Again we hear of some startling statistics about the unsanitary conditions of refrigerators. In damp weather we can fairly set the bread turn molds in our up-to-date bread box. In spite of our best efforts the drain of the kitchen sink sometimes clogs. We are quite sure that a kitchen inspector wouldn't rate us very high.

Of course the only thing we do is to make an eternal effort to bring the kitchen up to a high standard that we ourselves must set. Although we have not at hand as a rule any very definite knowledge as a criterion, we can make ourselves competent judges of kitchen cleanliness by reading, and by the application of sound sense and strong effort to the tasks of every day house-keeping.

(Copyright, 1916.)

Danish Steamer Captured. Copenhagen, Aug. 8.—The Danish steamship Ydem, from Christiania to Copenhagen, has been captured by the Germans and taken into Swinemunde. It carried a cargo of pieces of goods and fish, and also bore 200 returning from Norway on a holiday.

Food Riots in Russia. Berlin, via Sayville wireless, Aug. 8.—A dispatch to the Overseas News Agency reports that twenty-eight persons were killed during food riots in St. Petersburg (Petrograd) and over 100 wounded.

Keeps Water Cold Without Ice

The Thermos Carafe

A sanitary glass vacuum bottle in nickel case, suitable for the dining table or office. Cold water put in the Thermos Carafe will keep cold for 48 hours. Prices, $3.50 and $5.00. With handle, $6.00. Thermos Bottles for traveling or outing trips, $2.25 up.

Duffin & Martin & Co.
1215 F St. and 1214-18 G St.

AMUSEMENTS.

B. F. KEITH'S
Mat., 8:00, 10:00, 12:00, 2:00, 4:00, 6:00, 8:00, 10:00. Buy Today!
"SCORING A BIG SUCCESS"—Star.
SOPHIE TUCKER
With Her 5 Kings of Syncopation.
RIGGS & WITCHIE The Dance Stars.
Eight Other Noteworthy Novelties.

Free Admission Pleasure Park.
GLEN ECHO
Free Movies, Dancing, Derby Races, Midway of Fun, Amusement, Gravitron, Rides, Rides, Rides, Making Real Park Amusement.

LOEW'S COLUMBIA
Columbia, 10:00, 12:00, 2:00, 4:00, 6:00, 8:00, 10:00.
PAULINE FREDERICK
in "THE WOMAN IN THE CASE."
Grand Hotel, 10:00, 12:00, 2:00, 4:00, 6:00, 8:00, 10:00.

Excursions.
COLONIAL BEACH
WASHINGTON & ATLANTIC CITY.
Steamer St. Johns
DAILY EXCURSION TRIPS
SATURDAY, AUG. 13, 10:00 A. M. OTHER DAYS, 8 A. M.
Returning, leave Colonial Beach 4 P. M. Home again, 10:00 A. M.
Sundays, 10:00 A. M. to 10:00 P. M.
Dinner, 12:00 P. M. to 1:00 P. M.
ST. JOHNS STOPS AT QUANTICO.
Next Monday Trip, Monday, August 14, 10:00 A. M.
Home again at 10:00 P. M.
Stops made at Annapolis & P. M.

NEW YORK BOSTON PROVIDENCE
AND
EASTERN RESORTS BY WATER
Stop-over at
OLD POINT COMFORT
Modern Steel Palace Steamers
From Washington Daily 10:00 P. M.
City Ticket Office, 721 15th St. N. W.
NORFOLK & WASHINGTON STEAMBOAT CO.

CLAIMS SUFFRAGE WILL KEEP WHITES SUPREME
Suffragist Disputes President's Views
As to Effect of Enfranchisement of Women on South.

The maintenance of white supremacy in the South is a question, according to the assertion of Mrs. Helen Hill Wood, research chairman of the Congressional Union for Women Suffrage. This was in answer to the statement which President Wilson is reported to have made to a group of democratic women, who called on